THAT NEW BABY
BUYING AND SELLING
TIME TO ADVERTISE
TWO GAMBLERS
—By Arthur Brisbane—
(Copyright 1930 By King Features

REPORTERS SAY THE LINDBERGH baby's first name will be Charles. The middle name, if any, ought to be Morrow, since it can't be Anne.

Another reporter said "the birth of a boy made Lindbergh's biggest dream come true."

The birth of a girl might have made a bigger dream come true.

First, an older sister is a good influence on younger brothers.

Second, girls, not boys, inherit the genius of the father.

But the Lindbergh baby boy will inherit through his mother the talent of his grandfather, Dwight W. Morrow, and that is worth having.

Scientists tell you: "acquired characteristics are not inherited." They are wrong. If acquired characteristics were not inherited we should all still be cave men.

THE LINDBERGH BABY, inheriting flying on both sides, will fly naturally.

GALTON'S studies in heredity prove that girl babies inherit their father's powers. And the four-months-old baby girl belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock Jr., proves it also. If you lend her one finger, she seizes it and pulls herself straight up in her crib. She gets that from her father's polo right hand inheriting the financial ability of the Mellon family, through her mother, she ought to be well equipped.

WHEN PRICES ARE HIGH in Wall Street, men buy. When prices are low, men sell.

The late Russell Sage said: "Everybody has at least one chance in his life to buy Western Union at $50 a share. Don't miss your chance when it comes." In the next few weeks or months, thousands will have opportunities for good investment that may not come again in their lives. But they will wait patiently until prices have been driven sky high, and then they will buy.

THESE ARE DULL DAYS, and energetic days for advertising. The turtle ran while the rabbit was asleep, and won. The wise advertiser builds his business while others indulge in a "false economy" nap.

Davies Lewis, advertising manager of Cadillac automobile, has framed on his office wall the reply of the champion "hog caller," when asked how he won the competition: "You must have appeal as well as power in your voice. You must make the hog believe that you have something for him."

IN MODERN BUSINESS, you must not only make the hog believe that you have something for him, you must really have something for him.

Worried Wall Street felt better yesterday, the tiresome "rush to sell" was banished by a "rebound in prices."

Even cotton and wheat, depressed in the morning, picked up in the afternoon.

"BUSINESS WEEK" tells of an old gentleman elected county treasurer then lured into a "no limit" poker game by two professional gamblers.

They bet $1,000. He retired for a moment, bringing back all the money he had, and all the money belonging to the county, and told the gamblers "before you win, you will have to 'break me and the county, too.' The gamblers quit.

Telling that story to newspaper men, Mr. Legge of the farm board indicated that grain gamblers, sell-

Liverpool Revision Shows
Increase Of Nearly
2,000 Persons

Population of Columbiana county for 1930 is $6,420, a gain of 3,289 or 4 per cent over the 1920 figures, it was announced by census headquarters today.

The 1920 census showed a population of 83,131. All county cities, towns and villages, together with rural areas are included in the figures.

Complete re-check of census returns from Salem is being made in the district office. All returns have been submitted for this city but the result is being withheld pending the check.

Figures submitted by enumerators in this city are included in the county total but changes may result at the close of the survey. Alterations in the city's total would result in changes in the entire county total.

The 1930 returns for East Liverpool were revised today to show an increase of 1,883 over the 1920 census. The 1930 total is 23,304 compared to 21,421 in 1920. The increase is approximately 9 per cent.

Returns given month ago stated the population was 23,127.

WOODCOCK HEADS
JUSTICE FORCES

Maine Man Selected As Head Of New Dry
Endorsement

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Preparing to take over the prohibition bureau of the treasury at the end of the month, the justice department has selected Amos W. W. Woodcock of Salisbury, Maryland, for the task of directing enforcement.

As federal district attorney for his state and more recently as an aid to the Hoover law enforcement commission in its preliminary studies, he has acquired an experience which, the department says, makes him well equipped for his new post.

As district attorney, the department said in announcing the selection, Woodcock made an "excellent record" and "gained the respect of his state for the fair, fearless and efficient manner in which he performed his duties."

He is 42 years of age and has been practicing law since 1914. Before his appointment as district attorney in 1922 he served as assistant attorney general of his state.

In his new position, Woodcock will have the title of director of prohibition. The post was established by the Williamson bill providing for the transfer of the enforcement unit. The appointment does not have to be approved by the senate.

Fireworks Sale Banned In Salem; Ordinance Defined

Sale of fireworks, their possession or use in any manner, will be banned for the third year in Salem, Mayor John M. Davidson and Police Chief T. W. Thompson announced today.

A safe and sane "fire-crackerless" Fourth of July celebration is anticipated in the city by the officials. Only one injury has been reported here since the enactment of the ordinance declaring use or sale of fireworks illegal, three years ago.

The ordinance will be enforced to the greatest extent possible, Davidson stated. It specifies that all combustible articles for use in pyrotechnical displays are illegal and that no person, firm, or corporation is permitted to place them on sale in the city limits. The ordinance continues with:

"No person, firm, or corporation shall, within the city limits of Salem, sell, offer for sale, or have in his possession or custody, any toy pistol, squib, rocket, fire cracker, Roman candle, fire balloon, caps in any form, torpedo and other combustible fireworks or any article intended for pyrotechnical display.

The ordinance continues with:

POLICE HOLDING
FOUR KIDNAPERS

Delinquent Bootleggers Held In
Dog Kennel; Life Threat
Given, He Says

CLEVELAND, June 24.—Police arrested four men today who are alleged to have taken a reputed Columbus bootlegger for a ride, held him prisoner and threatened death unless a paid a $600 overdue liquor bill.

The man gave his name as Sam H. Bruss, 35, police said.

Bruss said the men accosted him as he was sitting in his automobile in the street on the east side last night. They held him prisoner in a dog kennel at the rear of an east side home for a half hour, until they could obtain some rope and a sack.

When they returned they threw the sack over his head, bound it with rope and bundled him to a basement where he was held for about four hours, police said Bruss told them.

When they took the sack from his head and released him, they took $42 in cash and a stick pin which Bruss valued at $125.

VETERANS' BILL GOES BACK INTO
HOUSE; MODIFIED

Emphatic Veto By Hoover
Expected After Change
Made In Senate

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Prompt approval of senate amendments by the house and an emphatic veto from President Hoover were forecast today for the World War veterans compensation bill.

The measure greatly modified, but still highly objectionable to the administration and the basis of predictions of higher tax rates, was returned to the house today for action on the changes of the senate.

In advance of President Hoover's veto, which congressional leaders regarded as certain in view of his statement of Sunday, the sponsors of the measure were aligning their forces to pass the bill over the chief executive's disapproval.

Senate Act Assured

Administration spokesmen held but little hope of sustaining the expected veto in the senate, but were more optimistic with regard to the house. A two-thirds vote of both branches of congress is necessary to override a presidential veto.

A caucus of house Republicans will consider the problem tonight. A move was underway at that end of the Capitol to work out a compromise more suitable to President Hoover in the event of a veto.

The bill was passed by the senate last night on a roll call which found but six ballots, all Republican, cast against the measure and 66 in its favor. Those who opposed it were Bingham and Walcott of Connecticut, Gillett of Massachusetts, Hastings of Delaware, Reed of Pennsylvania, and Watson of Indiana, the majority leader.

The outer guards held several hundred of the desperate convicts at bay until the arrival of the military police who surrounded the prison.

Pennsylvania Commission
Revokes License Of Giant Negro

PHILADELPHIA, June 24.—George Godfrey, the giant Negro, who last night fouled Primo Carnera, the ambulant Alp, in the fifth round, today lost his license as a boxer.

In addition to revoking his license permanently, the Pennsylvania athletic commission allowed him only $5,000 for the bout. He was to have received $10,000 for the 10 rounds, but under the commission's rule this was out to the pro rata basis of the number of rounds he fought.

The commission withdrew from Godfrey the status as a heavyweight contender, it having ruled at some time that a heavyweight world's champion would not be recognized in Pennsylvania until the giant Negro had been eliminated by a battle in the ring.

At Cincinnati the mercury reached 97, the highest mark since 1908 while at Portsmouth a season's record of 96 caused three prostrations. ASHTABULA, June 24.—Election of officers was the principal business before delegates to the annual state convention of the Ohio affiliated Exchange clubs today. The business session came after a day given over to an aerial circus during which the Ohio national guard squadron of Cleveland gave a demonstration of bombing and several of the country's outstanding pilots gave exhibitions.

During the glider contest Myron E. Terry of Cleveland spun to earth from a height of 300 feet, suffering a broken left foot, a broken right ankle and shock. Witnesses said Terry banked too sharply for a turn and fell into a tail spin from which he was unable to extricate himself. The program drew 30,000 spectators to the airport.

FREE STATE, June 24.—The airplane Southern Cross, victor over the Pacific, sought today to conquer the Atlantic in the first westward flight from Europe to New York.

Aboard it were four men, headed by Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith, pilot, who successfully steered it on the first airplane flight from America to Hawaii and Australia. The others are J. W. Stannage, radio operator, M. E. Van Dyk, assistant pilot, and Capt. J. T. Saul, navigator.

The take off was at 4:27 a. m. (10:27 Salem time Monday). Although loaded to capacity with gasoline the big ship raced 1,000 yards down the runway and then rose gracefully. It circled Port Marnock, which is seven miles northeast of Dublin, once, and then turned westward toward Galway and in open ocean.

Many See Take-Off witnessed the departure, cheering frantically as the plane left the ground. Among those present were Governor General MacNeil, the American minister, Frederick A. Sterling and Mrs. Sterling, and others.

Ahead of the ship at its departure lay a course of 3,364 miles to New York.

ANTHRACITE PROBLEMS

The periodic settlement of wage problems in the anthracite industry has been a matter of national importance for a quarter of a century. The procedure always has been the same: resolutions to reach a peaceful agreement, conferences between operators and miners, inability to agree and a strike. It is, therefore, with a very considerable interest that the expiration of the present wage agreement on August 31 is awaited. Will the industry treat its problem as before, or will there be a change?

Conditions are different in 1930 than they were in 1925-26 when 145,000 miners were on strike for 170 days. It would, perhaps, be better to say that conditions were different in 1925-26 than they were in years previous. The anthracite industry, unfortunately didn't realize the change until too late. Anthracite is no longer a natural monopoly; the failure to regain the market after the last strike proves that beyond any doubt. Oil, gas, bituminous coal, briquets, coke and foreign anthracite were the public's answer to an unfortunate strike which cut off its anthracite supply. Once in use, they were retained with a resultant 13 per cent decrease in anthracite production during the five year period from 1924 to 1929. It was a clear case of adaptation to conditions.

Covering a longer period, there is an evident diminution of the importance of anthracite in the national economy. A study made by F. G. Tryon of the United States Bureau of Mines shows that the proportion of anthracite's contribution to the total energy requirements of the country during the last 70 years has decreased from 62.3 per cent in 1859 to nine per cent in 1928. For many years a market characterized by a chronic shortage, the anthracite market today is oversupplied.

The Bureau of Mines also reports average prices for anthracite at the mines to have reached a peak in 1926, with a slow but steady decline since that year. Reductions in mine prices are especially significant when it is remembered that here has been no appreciable decrease in the cost of production. As a matter of fact, expenses have increased since virtual all anthracite operations are engaged in second and third mining.

The miners have felt the pressure of the changing anthracite market keenly. It is estimated that some 5,000 of them are out of work, a grave condition when it is remembered that more than 20,000 dependents are affected. Many others are working only part time and virtually all are subject to irregularities of employment. The average number of days worked in 1928 was 217—the poorest showing for any year from labor disturbances since 1908. The new wage agreement, as the result of working conditions, is expected to insure more equal division of working time.

After the turbulent history of labor relations in the anthracite industry it is hardly reasonable to expect that a new wage agreement will be reached without agitation, but there is every reason to prevent it, if humanly possible. The depression in general industry, lack of support from the bituminous industry where the miners' union is almost entirely broken and the natural concern of the miner over his job would seem to be sufficient reasons to insure amicable settlement.

THE AMERICAN ELEMENT

The unstinted praise which the New York Philharmonic Symphony orchestra is evoking from European music critics during its tour on the continent this year is sweet to American ears. Making its first appearance in Paris last month, the orchestra was awarded tremendous acclamations in the press. One critic said:

"It set a new standard of perfection for European ears and stirred a critical audience at the Opera House as it has rarely been stirred in many years. The spirit and magnitude of the performance of these 114 musicians, brought together by that wealth which alone can foster great culture and beauty, was a revelation of that love of music and aptitude of America which it has hitherto known only by its eccentricities."

The New York Philharmonic is not the only American orchestra which compares favorably with the famous organizations in Milan, London, Dresden, Paris and other cultural centers across the Atlantic. Practically every American city which boasts of a major league baseball team, or is of that size, has its symphony orchestra. From Boston to San Francisco, Americans take a very real interest in their development.

American wealth has been unable, perhaps, to do little more than "foster" thus far in the nation's cultural development, but patronage of the right kind is always a necessary adjunct to art. Even if 74 members of the New York Philharmonic have been recruited from the ranks of European organizations, or are of foreign birth; although its director is a native Italian trained in Italy, they find in America an hospitable atmosphere in which their genius can develop to its greatest stature.

An orchestra composed chiefly of Europeans and led by a European, but maintained by American money and playing for American audiences is an indication that the American element is very much in evidence. It will become more dominant as Europe comes to realize its sincerity.

What Others Say

SOUTHERN VIEW OF LYNCHING
The stigma of lynching has lain most heavily on the southern states, although, with the exception of New England, scarcely a state in the union has not at one time or another witnessed the consequences of mob madness.

Consequently it is heartening to observe that southern newspapers are taking a determined stand against this method of administering "justice." They reach eyes that are blind to northern comment. The Atlanta Constitution, which is published in the state that holds the unenviable record for lynchings, albeit latterly it has mended its ways, says with reference to recent anti-lynching activities in South Carolina:

"The lynching of persons who are in full custody of the law, or could be put there easily for safekeeping and legal disposition, is an uncivilized, lawless and highly criminal act of mob power. It is an act as abhorrent to all just men as it is unnecessary to the obtaining of justice. In every case within memory it has been as cruel and unjustifiable as the act of a giant in strangling a child in its cradle. Public sentiment against the act has been in recent years largely cut down the number of lynchings, but that sentiment is not yet pervasive enough and strong enough to prevent every sudden and murderous ebullition of mobs inflamed by sudden and revolting crimes committed in a community. But where prevention of a lynching fails because of the weightier force of the mob there should follow prompt and intensive prosecution of the murderers leading the mob. The excuse that none of them can be identified as absurd. The perfect identification, conviction and execution of a few mob leaders would soon put an almost total end to these damnable savage episodes in our current communal life."

Straight talk. We hope it will be taken to heart by those who appear to think that lynching is deprecated only in the North. All decent persons, South and North, are against it. Whether white or black, a lyncher is the victim of a spirit that has no place in this age and country. Certain offenses, arouse primitive passions in men and women. Suffice the laws and penalties—and then insist upon the prompt and rigid enforcement of them. Only in that way will these passions be held within the bounds of orderly government.—Detroit Free Press.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

CHILD HEALTH EDUCATION

During the last quarter of a century there has been a growing appreciation of the importance of child health and child welfare. The science and art of caring for the infant has been developed to a great extent. More recently much interest has been centered about the care of the child too young to go to school.

National consciousness has been aroused to the need of health and education for the child. We have learned this must be looked after in the home, in clementary and high school, and on up through college. In preparing for the World war, thousands of young men were rejected on the grounds of being physically unfit. This taught us a salutary lesson.

Significant changes have been taking place in many schools in the country. It has been found health protection and education go hand in hand.

No more important and far-reaching plan for public health service has been presented than that given some weeks ago under the auspices of the White House Conference on Child Health and Protection. Dr. Thomas D. Wood, chairman of the committee on the school child, has stated the program of work outlined. By this every child of the nation is to have an "equal opportunity for keeping and gaining the best health of body, health of mind, health of character—in short, health of the entire personality."

Under such a plan as presented daily health work in the schools would mean daily health inspection. This will be made by a corps of trained teachers and nurses, in cooperation with the home, the family physician, the clinics and hospitals.

Elaborate plans for the nation's public school systems will, in time, no doubt result in adequate healthful school buildings which shall be health centers. The up-to-date school affords a healthful environment for the nation's future citizens.

With periodic health examinations for every child, dental inspection and treatment once or twice a year, health instruction, all promoted in the school as a health center—such a project is indeed a wonderful plan. Great things would come of it. I pray it may succeed.

A healthy child lives, acts and learns in an atmosphere created by the joy of living.

The cooperation of the home, the school, nurse and physician is needed in this larger plan of education. Every parent and every teacher should be a health teacher, and by example and precept direct children under their care to sensible health habits and health knowledge.

to vote. All three are Republicans. As passed by the senate, the measure would liberalize existing veterans law and extend compensation up to $100 a month to disabled ex-service men. In addition, it would provide that disabilities be coming manifest to a ten per cent degree before January 1, 1930, shall be presumed to have been incurred in the service and to merit compensation on that basis. The present presumptive limit is January 1, 1925.

AVIATORS PLAN ATLANTIC HOP

Refuelling Flight Over Ocean From Azores To New York Expected

(By The Associated Press)

HORTA, ISLAND OF FAYAL, AZORES, June 24—Two Portuguese aviators with brilliant war records propose a non-stop flight from the Azores to New York. The two are Colonel Clifka Duarte, inspector general of the aeronautics, and Lieut.-Colonel Ribeiro Da Fonseca, whose flying record is said to exceed 5,000 hours.

Taking off from this modern airfield they expect to refuel at St. John's, Newfoundland, if they cannot get a modern hydroplane capable of covering the long distance in one lap.

The machine designed for the flight recently was given a thorough overhauling and equipped with a wireless set. It is a single-motored Junkers, capable of a top speed of 180 miles an hour.

Duarte, who is the promoter of the flight, will be pilot and Da Fonseca, whose daredevil stunts endeared him to the air minded public, will be co-pilot and navigator.

Duarte is an ardent exponent of the theory that the Azores archipelago constitutes an excellent base for regular flights across the Atlantic. To demonstrate the practicability of his cherished scheme and to some extent to uphold the prestige of Portuguese aviation, which won fame by the first crossing of the southern Atlantic by Portuguese airmen, is stated to be the real motive behind the plan to span the Atlantic ocean. That historic flight was made in 1922 by Captain Sacadura and Captain Coutinho.

FEDERATION IN INDIA BASIS OF NEW PROPOSALS

Change Of Rejection By Nationalists Seen By Diplomats

LONDON, June 24.—An all-India federation, composed of both the states of the Indian princes and the provinces, was recommended today to Great Britain and India by the Simon commission as affording possible solution of problems presented by Britain's Asiatic empire.

The units which would be contained in the federation would, under the recommendations, be self-governing and autonomous in a constantly progressing degree according to their various capacities. The central or federation government would be responsible to the British crown.

"While we are prepared to recommend a considerable advance toward self-government, and while we believe that a sense of responsibility can only be taught by making men responsible for the effects of their own actions, we desire to secure that experience is not bought too dearly," the report says.

Must Be Restraint

"There must be in India a power which can step in and save the situation before it is too late. There must be provided, as far as may be, safeguards to insure the maintenance of vital services."

The recommendations, which are embodied in the report of a parliamentary commission of seven, headed by Sir John Simon, will be the basis of conversations in the projected round table conference to be held in October in London on Indian affairs.

The recommendations received a generally agreeable welcome in preliminary comments of the British press this morning; few expected however anything but opposition from the nationalist groupings in India which have furthered the civil disobedience campaign of the past few weeks. The measure of self-government allowed was considered as falling far short of their demands for complete independence, or the immediate dominion status on which some believed they would be willing to compromise.

Happy Father Enthusiastic About Konjola

Praises New Medicine For Relief Brought To Son—"Won When Others Failed," He Says

MASTER ROBERT SCHMIDT

"Konjola will always have a place in our home; it is a medicine for the entire family," said Mr. Paul Schmidt, father of Robert Schmidt, 3, White Oaks, Cincinnati. "Robert had been ailing for about six weeks. He had no appetite, his circulation was poor and he was nervous and sleepless. Constipation bothered him a great deal. His color was sallow and he did not play like other boys."

"Konjola had done so much for both my wife and myself that we decided to give the medicine to Robert. Shortly after he began taking the medicine his health began to improve. He was no longer listless and slept well at night. His appetite improved wonderfully and his circulation became normal. He had gained three pounds in weight and looked like a different child. We shall continue the treatment until Robert is 100%." Konjola did what all other medicines and treatments failed to do."

Taken over a period of from six to eight weeks, this great medicine will accomplish results that will amaze sufferers from ailments of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness.

Konjola is sold in Salem, Ohio at J. H. Lease Drug Co. 3 stores and by the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Byrd Party's Boy Scout Comes Home a Man

Chosen from Hundreds of Thousands, Paul Siple, Boy Hero of Polar Expedition, Wins Praise of Veteran Adventurers.

PENNSYLVANIA BOY SCOUTS WELCOME THEIR BROTHER SCOUT HOME

LOADED with honors and universally praised by fellow members of the Byrd Antarctic expedition, Paul A. Siple, most famous boy scout in the world, is back home once more, and glad of it.

Twenty-one-year-old Paul was the scout chosen from hundreds of thousands to accompany the history-making two-year expedition to the bottom of the world.

According to Rear Admiral Byrd and his aids, none worked harder or with more good will and intelligence than the modest youth from the City of Erie.

Though he grew to stalwart manhood amid the frozen wastes near the South Pole, Paul proved he was the same unassuming lad who had sailed away on the Barkentine "City of New York," when asked on his return, what he wanted most in the world.

"Eats," he said unhesitatingly. "I wrote mother about it—two pages describing the pies, milk, vegetables, corn on the cob and ice cream I wanted her to prepare for me."

Needless to say his mother was on hand in New York to witness the mad welcome given the Byrd party when it triumphantly sailed up New York harbor. With her was her husband, C. L. Siple and 65 Boy Scouts from Erie. Tears streamed from Mrs. Siple's eyes as she saw her son for the first time in two years.

Paul was a freshman in Allegheny College, Pa., when he was picked as the most eligible Boy Scout between seventeen and twenty years of age to go on the hazardous adventure with Byrd.

While he was away in the Antarctic, Allegheny's president, Dr. James A. Beebe, radioed him the good news that in view of his admirable record a four-year scholarship covering all expenses awaited him on his return.

Now that Paul is home basking in the sun at Erie and been congratulated personally by President Hoover, Dan Beard and other celebrities, the most precious recollection of his exploit is the praise given him by Rear Admiral Byrd, himself, when he said, "Paul took up his work as a man among men, stood regular deck watches at sea and turned himself into an able seaman on a full-rigged sailing vessel."

Paul plans to make scouting his life work after completing his studies at Allegheny.

ANOTHER FOUL DARKENS HEAVYWEIGHT HISTORY; CARNERA WINS

George Godfrey Shoots Low Punch After Lead Over Italian In Scrap

(By The Associated Press)
PHILADELPHIA, June 24.—Another foul caused a stir today about heavyweight prize fighting. This time it was George Godfrey, the giant Negro of Leipsville, Pa., who committed the foul. This time the fallen gladiator, writhing in anguish on the floor of the battle pit, is Primo Carnera, the Italian colossus, and again the faithful, come to see a fight, boomed and roared, and shouted "fake" and went home talking to themselves.

The battle of the behemoths, the two largest men ever to face each other in a ring, missed duplicating the farcical ending of Jack Sharkey's duel with Max Schmeling for the heavyweight crown by less than two minutes. Whereas Sharkey fouled his man in the last few seconds of the fourth round, Godfrey struggled past the first minute of the fifth before he drove an apparently incapacitating left hook into Carnera's groin.

Like Other Fiascos
From that second on, however, the situation looked exactly like the rubber-stamp ending that has been played on three out of four of the last important heavyweights struggles. Carnera writhed and moaned in the manner of all fouled fighters, finally was eased from his agony by merciful unconsciousness, and was dragged out of there, winner on a foul.

In four of the most recent important heavyweights bouts, Otto Von Porat has fouled Phil Scott; Scott has failed to have a claim of foul sustained against Jack Sharkey; Sharkey lost on a foul to Schmeling and Godfrey belted Carnera low. For this display of submarine twirling and grimacing the fans have paid an attendance bill of approximately $1,300,000.

Last night almost 40,000 customers paid close to $200,000 for the bout that was billed as the real test of Carnera as a fighting man. His fungle hitting against Carnera and tenth rater in a tour throughout the country was ended. The charges of "fake" in his fight with the Negro Leon Chavler in Oakland, Cal., were to be forgotten in the glory of a huge but genuine fighting man overcoming his first real opposition.

Had Carnera Going
But unfortunately for boxing, it failed to turn out that way. Godfrey, contributing an even 250 pounds to the quarter of a ton of struggling humanity in the park at the National league ball park, belted the vast Venetian dandy in the first round, socked him solidly in the second, eased up in the third, and went ahead again in the fourth. Carnera showed genuine ability to balance his 262 pounds on his amazing feet despite the leather that bounced freely off his chin and landed deep in his body. He was fast on his feet for such a tremendous fellow. He was cool, but he damaged the Negro giant but little.

Godfrey was obviously tiring badly when he let loose the low left hook after one minute, 13 seconds of the fifth.

While the crowd boomed and cries of "fake" rolled down the ringside, critics up close were mixed in their opinions. Several believed that the match had been talked over before it was put on. Others could see nothing wrong. Dr. J. Vaughn, of the Pennsylvania state athletic commission, said Carnera had been fouled and incapacitated.

Referee Sees Foul
Referee Tommy Riley, who was the third man in the ring the night Gene Tunney won the heavyweight title from Jack Dempsey, called the foul without hesitation. Frank Wiener, chairman of the athletic commission, said there would be an investigation before the fighters were paid. It was reported that Carnera was to receive 60 per cent of the gate receipts, and Godfrey $10,000 flat, although there seemed to be some doubt as to who would pay the Negro.

There was no question as to the low blow. Early in the fifth round Godfrey, who had been punching short but with increasing lack of power to the body as the fight wore on, suddenly loosed a long left hook that looked foul from the start all the way to the point of contact. Carnera yowled, grimaced and then collapsed, his huge body shaking the reinforced ring as he landed.

Major League Batsmen Run Wild; Cleveland Drops Two
(By The Associated Press)
Modern day baseball, with its lively ball, home runs and two-figure scores, was exhibited to Mr. John Public in large quantities by the major league ball teams yesterday.

A total of 256 hits, in which were interspersed 20 home runs, rang off the bats of the players, scoring 159 runs to furnish an example of the great American sport as played in 1930. The American leaguers outscored their national league rivals 81 to 78 and outdid them 137 to 119 but seven games were played in the junior circuit as compared to four in the Heydler circuit. The American league also led in home runs 11 to 9 as Babe Ruth connected with his twenty-fourth of the season.

Cubs Lead Parade
The Chicago Cubs led the parade, defeating the Phillies 21 to 8 as they found the Philadelphia pitchers for 24 hits including Hack Wilson's twenty-second home run. Davis, Phillie catcher, drove the ball over the fence twice.

Not far behind the Cubs trailed the Brooklyn Robins as they downed the Pirates 19 to 6 in the greatest array of hitting in either circuit. The Robins hit safely 28 times and in doing so tied two league records. Their ten consecutive hits in the sixth equaled the one-time successive hit record held by the Cubs and Cardinals while the two added at the start of the seventh ran the consecutive string to 12 and tied the mark made by the Cardinals against the Phillies on Sept. 17, 1920. The out that tied the Robins in the sixth was made by catching Lopez at the plate, thus allowing the unbroken string of hits to extend into the next inning.

Braves Trim Cards
Even the Boston Braves cut loose, winning a slugfest match from the St. Louis Cardinals, 12 to 9. Walley Berge hit his twenty-first home run to retain runner-up honors in the circuit.

Bill Walker and the Giants managed to put on an old-fashioned ball game, the former holding the Reds to six hits and the latter winning 3 to 0. Ray Kelp held New York to eight safeties.

As if to give Mr. Public a variety of the Athletics and White Sox hooked up in a 2 to 1 game in the opener of a double header in the American league and then closed with a 17 to 9 affair. The world champions were on the long end of the score in both games. Mose Grove outpitched old Red Faber in the first encounter but home runs came thick and fast in the nightcap. Five were divided between the Athletics, Al Simmons getting two and Fox, Hays and Cochrane one each while Jolley connected twice for the Sox.

Yanks Lose Ground
The Yankees lost ground as they blanked the Browns in the first game of a double bill 15 to 0 and then dropped the second 10 to 6. Henry Johnson pitched four-hit ball in the first while Ruth got no 24 in his home run campaign. The defeat dropped the Yanks to third place.

A double killing over the Indians by the Senators sent Washington into second place. The scores were 9 to 5 and 3 to 2. Alvin Crowder, Heinie Manush and Art Shires were the stars of the opener while Fred

Where The Money Goes.
Many sportsmen of Ohio wonder where all the money they pay for licenses goes when they realize that there are over a half million hunting permits sold yearly. But the breadth and scope of the conservation department and the necessary expenditures in its operation provide a good basis for excellent use of all money the sportsman can pay in, especially when it is taken into consideration that the department is conducted without a bit of cost to taxpayers.

In the past year the department distributed 4,344,800 fish through the state. Some of these fish were obtained from the waters of Lake Erie and planted in the more inland waters and others were raised at the hatcheries of the state. This large distribution, in addition to the natural increase in waters, should maintain fishing nearly at a level in most localities.

Hunters should perk up a bit when they hear that 11,400 pheasants have been sent out by the department as well as 2,000 Hungarian partridges. The "Hunkies" are getting more and more popular and are said to be on the increase in several Ohio counties. They work well with a dog, too.

Among other recent activities of the department were the stocking of 30,000 fish in Lake Milton and Newport lake. Twenty-five thousand brown trout are also Ohio residents now. They were purchased from Michigan and are in the Chagrin Falls hatchery and will be placed in northern Ohio streams this fall.

Do We Need Conservation?
Here is an extract from a Wyoming report on the last antelope season.

"In Sept. 28, 1929, there were about 2,800 head of antelope on this range. On Oct. 25, 1929, to the best of my belief there were between 700 and 800. I do not contend that 2,000 were slaughtered, as many were undoubtedly driven off. But I do believe that between 1,200 and 1,500 were killed outright, or died of wounds. We have found over 50 carcasses of antelope which died in this manner and unquestionably double this number died of wounds."

This is a report on a six-day season from a party on the grounds. Do we need conservation?

Cat Problems
At this time of young birds and young rabbits, cats are taking their harvest from the wild life. There is but little doubt that the house cat, which prowls about the field is a great destroyer of game and one particularly addicted to the habit will take as much game in a year as the average hunter, to say nothing of the songbird and insectivorous bird toll.

The American Fish and Game association has gone on record as favoring state legislation controlling cats. If they are as much of a menace as experts tell us they are, they should be licensed and taxed the same as dogs.

"VAGABOND KING" At The State

Jeanette MacDonald, Broadway musical comedy prima donna, who made her debut in Maurice Chevalier's all-talking and singing romance, "The Love Parade," is seen and heard in her second musical romance production of the audible screen, in "The Vagabond King," starring Dennis King.

King, as the master of the sword the leader of the vagabonds, the regent of Paris and the captor of a princess' heart, leaps into the very front rank of romantic actors-singers of the cinema in his gorgeous portrayal of Francois Villon the poet-hero of "The Vagabond King."

The period of the plot is 1483, the late middle ages, Louis XI (played by O. P. Heggie) is the weakling king of France, besieged at Paris by the Burgundian army. By a quirk of fate, Dennis King becomes sovereign for a week. It is during this brief reign that he meets Louis' niece, the Princess Katherine, (played by Jeanette MacDonald) and falls in love with her.

By clever generalship King outwits and defeats the Burgundians with the help of his faithful vagabond adherents. Paris is thus saved, but the treacherous Louis decides that King is too powerful and that he must be hanged.

"DUMB BELLS IN ERMINE" At The Grand

Flaming youth with cerise suspenders and balloon trousers who believe themselves unequalled in the art of wise-cracking take a back seat with the amateurs when Grandma Corey of "Dumb Bells in Ermine" gets loose.

Grandma's armchair with a pair of long knitting needles and a ball of yarn is deserted. It may be true that she can't execute the latest dance with the same agility that was here 40 years ago but in a war of wit she has the youngsters soundly whipped.

The celebrated Beryl Mercer enacts the role of wise-cracking and kindly Grandma Corey in Warner Brothers latest Vitaphone comedy featuring Barbara Kent and Robert Armstrong now playing at the Grand.

Others in the cast are James Gleason who wrote the dialogue for this film and acts in it, Julia Swayne Gordon, Claude Gillingwater, Arthur Hoyt, Mary Foy and Charlotte Merriam.
